PLOT AGAINST HARRISON?

Chicago's Mayor Informed an Attempt on His Life Will Be Made.

A special dispatch to the Baltimore Sun from Chicago last night says: Carter H. Harrison, mayor of Chicago, is threatened with the same death which befell his father, who was assassinated while mayor of the city. The mayor today received a warning through the mail.

Although the officials at the city hall are inclined to regard the note as the work of a crank, still the memory of the assassination of the elder Harrison at the door of his home by William Pendergast, in 1893, is too vivid for them to permit the matter to go unnoticed. A note penciled on a postal card informed Mayor Harrison of the plot to assassinate him. The card was mailed at Harvey, Ill., July 9, at 2:30 p.m. It read as follows: "Carter H. Harrison, Chicago, Ill.:

"Dear Sir-Manage to be out of the city next Saturday night, for there is a plot on foot to shoot you. It was discovered by me.

A GOOD CITIZEN."

It was noted that the writing was similar to that of a schoolboy. The mayor will leave the city for Huron Mountain, Mich., next week, according to an announcement made today.

Sketch of an Active and Industrious Life.

A SELF-MADE MAN

Mr. John W. Thompson died at 12:20 clock this morning at his residence, No. 1419 I street, after an illness of six weeks' duration. There were present at the bedside when the end came Mrs. Flora Mark-latter's wife and Dr. John W. Shaw, his physician. Mr. Thompson's condition had been desperate for the past two weeks, and only his wonderful vitality and powerful constitution enabled him to ward off the inevitable result so long. Shortly after midday yesterday he began to weaken, and Friday from the lower lake region and steadily sank until death came. and steadily sank until death came.

The funeral will take place Saturday next at 4 p.m. from the Thompson residence, No. 1419 I street northwest. Interment will be made at Oak Hill cemetery. The pallbear-

A Busy Life.

Mr. Thompson began life in very humble circumstances, but, owing to industry and On the south Atlantic and gulf coasts they energy, as well as ability of superior character, he overcame all obstacles and fought his way upward from obscurity and poverty. He was only another self-made man of the many of which this country furnishes

He was born in Montreal, Canada, August 1, 1822, of Scotch-Irish parentage. When about sixteen years of age he left his native place and went to Albany, N. Y., where he learned the printers' art, and it was when he was foreman of an office there that he was offered a position in New York city, which he accepted. During his resi-dence in the latter city he learned the plumbers' trade, and tasting about to deto that industry. In casting about to determine how to better his condition, he came to the conclusion that there were more opportunities in Richmond, Va., than his line of business, his line of business, and business, business, business, business, business, business, business, and business, bus plumbers' trade, and devoted his attention to that industry. In casting about to deways sure of a breeze and he decided to settle there. On his way to that place he stopped in this city and Lowest prices, too.

Lowest prices, too. was in the year 1847.

A Modest Beginning.

He began business here in a small way, but the qualities which in later life gave him such a commanding position in the community soon won for him a patronage from his fellow-citizens which grew rapidly in its proportions.

He had charge of the work of putting !n the old Willard Hotel a system of plumbing. This was before the days of sewers in this city and a water supply, and it was one of the first buildings in the city that was supplied with these modern conven-Ex-Gov. Shepherd became associated with Mr. Thompson and his brother, the late William Thompson, in the plumbing bus-iness, and about the close of the war Mr. Thompson and his brother sold their interest in the business to ex-Gov. Shepherd. He became interested in the Metropolitan street railroad, and was soon placed at the head of that organization, which position he held for some twenty years.

During the existence of the territorial form of government in this city Mr. Thomp-son was a member of the upper house. He became identified with the New York, Washington, Alexandria and Georgetown Steamboat Company, which was afterward merged into the Inland and Seaboard Coast Company, and was the president of the lat-

As Bank President.

For twenty-three years he was president of the National Metropolitan Bank, having severed his connection with that institution about four years ago, when the management changed hands. His connection with the bank was first as a depositor, and then, in 1868, he became a director, and in 1873 he was made vice president and finally president. Some years ago the board of directors had a portrait in oil painted of Mr. Thompson, which was presented to the bank, and which now adorns the wall of the directors' room. As the directing head of this important financial institution, as well as on account of his business judgment and sagacity, Mr. Thompson for many years occupied an important position in the local financial world. He took an active interest in all matters relating to the welfare of the city, and, after the election of General Garfield as President of the United States, he was made chairman of the inaugural committee, and managed the arrangements for that event with so much skill that at the close the committee found there was an actual surplus in the treasury, a condition of affairs, which had never before been known in the conduct of the inau-gural preparations. He was connected with the committees in charge of subsequent in-augural preparations, and at the last inauguration was a member of the finance com-mittee. For a number of years he was a member of the board of trustees of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, and also performed the duties of treasurer.

War on Corruption. One of the most important, if not the most important, service rendered to the public by Mr. Thompson was the fight which he undertook, almost single-handed. and carried to a successful issue, against the corruption which existed in the de-tective force of this city. Some fifteen years ago a number of daring robberies were perpetrated, and the thieves had escaped with their plunder, and it seemed as those who were intrusted with the duty of protecting the public had proved false to their trust. In spite of threats made against his life and regulation, Mr. Thomp-son began an investigation, which resulted in the passage by Congress of a law abolishing the detective service then existing and substituting the present system of appointment of members from the police force. Only Mr. Thompson's pluck made it possible to persevere in the course he had mapped out. He received the approval of his fellow citizens, and it was generally considered that he had performed a public service of much value.

Home Life and Travels. Mr. Thompson, while essentially a home man, was fond of social life and in his prime mingled frequently with his friends, and treated with rich, cold cream. This dish gives both in public and private functions. He the staying qualities necessary. Add a slice or wished especially to bring in contact the two of entire wheat bread, with a very little but-characterized by this motive, and the pleasure the events afforded him were often re-ferred to in his latter days. He was particularly fond of dinner giving and going. while most abstemious in his tastes so far as eating or drinking was concerned. Durtrips to Europe. Mexico and to China and Japan, generally accompanied by members of his family. He was an observant traveler and was a most interesting talker on what he saw, especially of the wonders of the far east. He was fond of enriching his home with beautiful specimens of oriental handiwork—the process of the construction of the article, whether in metal, china or embroidery, being carefully studied by him when purchased.

The spacious residence, 1419 I street, was his pride. He loved every brick in it he used to say, and was never as happy as when he was home. Since relinquishing active business, which preceded by six months or so his first fallure in health, he has left his home reluctantly when the heat became too oppressive each summer, only to return to it in the early fall more gladly than ever. His first attack of aphasia prostrated him for nearly two months in the fall of 1897. His rapid recovery, however, after he was able to get out doors, was regarded as remarkable. His wonderful grasp of business and the keen judgment with which he was wont to discuss such matters at once reasserted itself, and until the beginning of his last illness, the last days of May, he devoted a large part of every day to his private business affairs. He was a large owner of real estate in this city, and also of the securities of local corporations. Mr. Thompson's first wife was Miss Jeannette McGill, who died a number of years ago. She was a sister of the late Thomas McGill of this city. Five children were born to them, two of whom survive, Miss Ida Thompson and Mr. Ross Thompson. In the summer of 1806 Mr. Thompson married Miss Flora Markward of this city, who survives him.

Foreman Appointed.

Mr. Warner Stutler has recommended the appointment of James Hendershot as foreman in the street cleaning department, vice John P. Russell, deceased. Commissioner Ross has approved.

Ask for Increase in Compensation. J. R. King and Joseph Fitzpatrick, foremen in the sewer division, have requested the District Commissioners to increase their compensation. The superintendent of sewers, Mr. D. E. McComb, says the foremen in charge of the work of cleaning catch basins receive $3 per day. They do not lose time except during exceptionally inclement weather and for personal reasons. The foremen in charge of flushing gangs, cleaning gangs and the minor repair gang receive the same rate of compensation. Mr. McComb says that an increase in the pay of all the foremen in the work above noted would naturally follow the granting of the petitions of King and Fitzpatrick. In his opinion the rate now paid is fairly commensurate with the services required. Capt. Beach has approved the adverse recommendation.

Rule Already in Force.

Capt. Beach, the Engineer Commissioner, has reported upon the recommendation of Commissioner Ross that the heads of District departments be limited in making requisitions for supplies to the 1st and 15th secular days of the month. Capt. Beach says that as the engineer department purchases are not made by the property clerk, but by the superintendent of property, it is believed that the paper does not need his action. The rule suggested by Com-missioner Ross has been followed for some years in the engineer department and has been found to work very satisfactorily.

SKETCH OF HIS CAREER

Telegraphic announcement was received in this city today of the death of James S.

Edwards, which occurred at the Seaside Hotel, Atlantic City, N. J., at 10 o'clock last night. Mr. Edwards was one of the leading attorneys and a prominent citizen of Washington. The news of his demise was in the nature of a severe shock to his large circle of friends and acquaintances and especially to the members of the local bar. With Mr. Edwards when he breathed his last were his wife, Mrs. Delia R. Edwards; his daughter, Miss Emily Edwards, and his son, Mr. Burr N. Edwards. The family, with the remains, will reach this city by way of the Pennsylvania railroad at 7 o'clock this evening. The body will be taken direct to the Edwards home, 219 I street. No arrangements of a definite character for the funeral can be made here prior to the arrival of the bereaved party this evening. The precise cause of death does not seem to be known here. Mr. Edwards had not enjoyed good health for two or three years past. Accompanied by his daughter, Miss Emily Edwards, he proceeded to Atlantic City last Saturday for rest and recupera-tion. Up to the moment of leaving, however, he was hard at work attending to de-tails of his law practice. He appeared to be in good spirits Saturday and those who had occasion to converse with him that day say he looked well and made a number of jesting remarks. A letter was received Monday from Miss Edwards, who stated that her father was getting along very

Burr Edwards, saying that the condition of his father was not then regarded as alarming. Death, however, ensued soon after

The sad news was conveyed this morning through the medium of telegrams, re-ceived by Rev. Dr. Wallace Radcliffe, Mr. John Joy Edson and others. Mr. Edwards' sister, who was the only member of the years; Edward H. Hogan, 70 years; Wil- family at the I street residence today, inliam John Warren, 67 years (about); Jo- tended to leave for her home several weeks ago, but remained here in view of the state of her brother's health. She had purchased a ticket and made arrangements to start for New York this evening, not anticipating the fatal termination of his illness.

A Native of England. James S. Edwards was a native of England. He was born in Devonshire in November, 1841, and consequently was fiftynine years of age last November. He came to this country with his parents when he was eleven years of age, and settled in Clinton county, New York. His father died very soon after reaching the United States. At the outbreak of the war of the rebellion Mr. Edwards, who was then only twenty years of age, enlisted in a New York regi-ment, and earned quite a reputation as a sharpshooter. With his regiment he came to this section of the country, and, suc-cumbing to illness, was sent to Armory Square Hospital, the building now used by the United States fish commission. Dr. D. W. Bliss, who was one of the attending physicians of President Garfield after the latter had been shot by Guiteau, was in charge of the hospital, and, taking a great liking to Mr. Edwards, he appointed him, when he was convalescent, chief clerk of the hospital and placed him in charge of its records.

When the war had been concluded Mr. Edwards was appointed deputy register of wills for the District of Columbia, under Register Zenas C. Robbins. While filling this office Mr. Edwards studied law. When Amos Webster was appointed register of wills Mr. Edwards resigned as deputy and engaged in the practice of law. He was very successful, particularly in probate matters. The 1st of July, 1876, Mr. Ed-wards formed a law partnership with Job Barnard, who up to that time had been an assistant clerk of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, and Milton C. Barnard. The latter several years later withdrew. The firm of Edwards & Barnard. Barnard was appointed an associate justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, in October, 1899. Since that time the business has been carried on by Mr. Edwards unaided. He was exceedingly energetic and thoroughly conscientious in all his dealings.

Prominent in His Profession. Among the prominent legal causes in which Mr. Edwards figured prominently may be mentioned the Norment will case, the Entwisle-Barron bankruptcy matter and the Mount Vernon and Marshall Hall Steamboat Company receivership proceeding, and the Jackson and Seufferle case, which was taken to the Supreme Court of

The deceased was twice married. The wife who survives him was a Miss North-rup of Rochester, N. Y. In addition to Mr. Burr N. Edwards and Miss Emily Edwards, the deceased leaves another child, a married daughter, Mrs. Julia Millham, who resides in New York city.

For the past quarter of a century Mr. Edwards made his home at 219 I street, a large, comfortable house, which is very near the residence of Mr. Matthew G. Em-ery. Mr. Edwards and his family were members of the New York Avenue Presby-terian Church and attended the services there regularly. Rev. Dr. Radeliffe, pastor of the church, has been requested to meet the family upon their arrival home, and will undoubtedly conduct the funeral serv-

CLAIMS SALVAGE.

Charles H. Fletcher Sues Owners of Barge J. L. Brady. Hearing was concluded today before Justice Hagner, holding an admiralty court, of the libel case of Chas. H. Fletcher against made up of James S. Edwards and Job Barnard, continued in business until Mr. the barge J. I. Brady on account of a claim for salvage. The libellant alleges he is entitled to salvage by reason of having rescued the barge the 12th day of February, when it is said to have been adrift in the Potomac river near this city. By his petition and supporting testimony Mr. Fletcher claims to have been attached to the schooner J. F. Krantz, moored at Johnson & Wimsatt's wharf the date in question. He claims the barge went adrift and struck the schooner upon the bow on its way down the river, where, he states, damage would have resulted by reason of ground-ing or collisions had he not, at the expense of physical injury to himself, succeeded in rescuing the barge.

Upon hearing the testimony the court decided in favor of the respondent company, and the libellants thereupon gave notice of appeal.

The Brady is said to belong to the Easton-McMahon Transportation Company of Philadelphia. Attorneys Wilton J. Lambert and D. W. Baker closed the testimony on behalf of Mr. Fletcher yesterday afternoon. Attorneys Wilson & Barksdale proceeded with the defense this morning. ceeded with the defense this morning.

Protest Against Cement Sidewalk. Heiskell & McLeran, agents for George Glorious, have protested to the District Commissioners against the laying of a cement sidewalk on 3d street northwest between R street and Florida avenue. The computing engineer, Mr. C. B. Hunt, reports upon the matter that the roadway of the street between the points mentioned was paved recently and as no sidewalk existed on the west side of the thoroughfare, the order for the cement walk was made on the initiative of the office. In conclusion, Mr. Hunt says:

"The large improvement which has been made to this property without cost to the same by the construction of an asphalt roadway; the nature of the locality; the surrounding improvements, and the amount of pedestrian travel, would, in themselves, justify the Commissioners in allowing this work order to stand. I recommend that in spite of this protest the walk be laid as ordered." The recommendation has been approved by Captain Beach, the Engineer Commis-sioner, and the same action will probably be taken by his associates of the District
